III. Curriculum Enrichment Practices

1. Educational Tour to Bandla by the Department of Zoology

The Department of Zoology organised an educational tour to Bandla with the objective of providing students with practical exposure to the rich flora and fauna of the Bandla region. During the tour, students explored the natural ecosystem of Bandla and observed various plant species, insects, birds, and other wildlife in their natural habitat. The visit helped students to understand biodiversity, ecological interactions, and the importance of conservation through direct field-based learning. Overall, the educational tour was a valuable academic experience that enhanced students' interest and understanding of zoology beyond the classroom.

2. Architecture Project and Field Visit on Temple Architecture of Makadi village and Markandey by the Department of History

The Department of History conducted an architecture-based project along with a field visit focusing on the temple architecture of Makadi village and Markandey. As part of the project, students studied the architectural style, structural design, carvings, and historical significance of the temples in these regions. The field trip provided first-hand exposure to traditional temple architecture and helped students understand the cultural, religious, and historical context in which these structures were built. This practical engagement enriched students' academic learning and deepened their appreciation of India's architectural heritage.

IV. Internal Assessment Mechanism

Implementation of Internal Assessment Mechanism Across Departments

The college follows a well-defined and transparent internal assessment mechanism, which is uniformly implemented by all departments as per university norms. Internal assessment is carried out through a combination of house examinations, assignments, and attendance, ensuring continuous evaluation of students' academic progress. Departments maintain proper records of internal assessment marks, duly verified and signed by the concerned subject teachers. The assessment process is conducted in a timely manner, and students are informed about their performance to promote academic improvement. This systematic approach ensures fairness, accountability, and consistency in the evaluation process across all programmes and subjects.
